

The Difference of Methodology in 'Aqīdah Issues between Mutakallimīn and Muḥaddithīn

Anas Hassan ❀

ABSTRACT

The group of scholars who compiled the sayings (ahādīth) of the Holy Prophet with utmost love and care are called Muḥaddithīn, whereas Mutakallimīn are those who set the trend of applying logical arguments on Islamic dogmas (beliefs) and evaluating the Nuṣūṣ (the texts of Qur'ān and Sunnah) on the criterion of reason. Most of the Muḥaddithīn did not think lawful to use logical interpretations of Nuṣūṣ. Contrary to this, Mutakallimīn preferred logical argumentation to accept or refute anything. The methodologies of the both trends resulted in various differences in interpreting the theological issues. Moreover, the differences between Muḥaddithīn and Mutakallimīn affected not only the Islamic culture and society, but also the Islamic philosophy and disciplines. This article throws light on the various aspects of differences between these two schools of thoughts.
